THE Third Term of 1919 begins on Wednesday, September 17th.

The most noteworthy event of this term has been the official declaration of Peace. Of course we "never could recapture the first fine careless rapture" called forth by the signing of the Armistice last year, but, though less spontaneous, the feeling caused by the official announcement was one of deep, heartfelt gratitude that the tragic war was indeed at last ended. When the news first came through (a little prematurely as it turned out, but that did not matter) the National Anthem was sung in assembly, cheers were given for the soldiers, and a special prayer offered in memory of those who had laid down their lives.

The Peace Celebrations were specially marked for us in three ways. On Friday, July 18th, peace medals were distributed to all boys under fifteen years of age. Councillor Laidlaw (Mayor of Newtown and Chilwell), with Councillors C. Shannon and A. Purnell, visited the School for that purpose. On the following day there was a fine procession, followed by speeches and concerted singing in front of the City Hall, and a display on the Oval. The College Cadet Corps made its first public appearance for some time by taking part in the procession. As a special act of grace the College Council granted the School a whole holiday on Monday, July 28th.

The Influenza epidemic which played havoc with us last term has gone elsewhere for victims this term, and cases at the School have been comparatively few. It has been quite obvious, however, that it will be impossible to regain the ground lost during the year through its appearance. This is probably the case with most other schools and colleges in the State. After bringing so many invalids safely through last term, the Headmaster, himself was attacked by the scourge towards the end of the vacation, and was out of action for two or three weeks.

Mr. Russell Keays has presented the School with a speaking portrait of Jack Hawkes, in tennis garb. Accompanying the picture is a record of the great performances of our former Head Prefect and Public School Tennis Champion.

Saturday, October 18th, has been fixed as the date of the Annual Athletic Sports. A large gathering is hoped for; several Old Boys who have lately returned from the war have ticked off the day as one not to be overlooked. The Combined Sports are to be held on October 31st. It is unfortunate that the same date has been chosen for Geelong's Gala Day, as both fixtures are sure to suffer in consequence.

Owing to the difficulty of procuring arms and ammunition, it has been decided that the contest for the Cumming Cup shall not take place this year.

The vacancies in the number of Prefects have been filled by the appointment of J. K. Carmichael, J. W. Robertson, and J. G. Steele. Although it is not customary to mark such appointments by any special ceremony, it is recognised that the position of a Prefect is a very honourable one and carries with it, besides certain privileges, important responsibilities. We hope that the new recipients of the distinction will prove themselves the equals of the worthiest of their predecessors.

Spring has made her appearance early this year. The eyes of the hard-working students in rooms A and B have been gladdened by the sight of the golden wattle on the lawn, and their ears ravished with the melodious sound of the Australian cuckoo practising the chromatic scale.

On July 29th, we were favoured by a visit from Captain C. E. W. Bean, the now famous Australian War Correspondent. He was accompanied by Chaplain-Captain C. Neville, and a special assembly was called to hear his address. Captain Bean, who was known to the boys, if for no other reason, as the author of "In Your Hands, Australians," in the course of a stirring speech, said that he knew how gallantly the Old Boys of the College had responded to the call of duty, and he had no doubt that if the war had continued long enough most of those present would have taken part in it too. He pointed out that though the actual fighting was over there remained a duty for all young Australians: that of seeing that they made every effort to keep Australia great, and a leading nation in the world. Captain Bean then related conspicuous feats of gallantry performed at Gallipoli, and made special reference to the deeds of the 8th Light Horse. The conclusion of his speech was marked by rounds of applause which indicated, as the Headmaster remarked, that his all too brief address merely whetted our appetite for what we were to hear in the evening.

The boys were granted the further privilege of attending Captain Bean's lecture in the Mechanics' Hall, entitled "Anzac Revisited/ Captain Bean had the unique opportunity of revisiting Gallipoli at the close of the war, and of obtaining at first hand valuable official photographs of Anzac Cove, Gaba Tepe, Cape Hellas, Lone Fine Hill, and other places that will always be historic. These were made into lantern slides and were intensely interesting, especially those which showed how the Australian positions seemed from the Turks' point of view, and gave a clear indication of the superiority of the enemy's position and the marvel of the Australians' and New Zealanders' deeds. The lucid explanations of Captain Bean added to the fascination of the scenes depicted.

Lieut. A. H. MacRoberts, who left the staff to enlist in 1915, by great good fortune arrived home just in time to be present on Old Boys' Day. Many of the boys have a vivid recollection of his farewell, and they showed their joy at his return by lining the path and cheering him as he entered the grounds. Everyone was pleased to see that he had returned in such good health, looking, as someone said, like himself, only more so.

Mr. Charles Shannon, who "doeth little kindnesses which most leave undone or despise," thoughtfully sent for the boys several copies of Captain Bean's book, "In Your Hands, Australians." These were distributed to the different forms and were eagerly read by the boys in their turn.

Our thanks are due to Mrs. Moore, wife of the late Rev. A. H. Moore, for her kindness in presenting two copies of "The Collegian," a school paper edited and published by Mr. Moore in his school-boy days in 1882.

Some of the paragraphs are extremely interesting, consisting as they do of frankly personal remarks on the physical peculiarities and mental defects, or otherwise, of Old Collegians, many of whom have since become famous in the annals of the School.

Football.

Another football season brought the usual problem of how to fill the vacancies in the team, for each year robs the Eighteen of a big proportion of its strongest players. This time we had to consider how we could build up a team without Ned Riggail (last year's captain), Jack Hawkes (vice-captain), Ronnie Macpherson, L. Langslow, W. Ricketts, F. Apted, J. D'Helin, and R. Quick, all permanent members of last year's team. Rucks, rovers and half-backs gone, taking the wieight with them, and including all the committeemen, what kind of a side could we raise?

The competition amongst the "eligibles" and "possibles" soon became very keen, in fact has remained so throughout, and the new committee—Morton, Brooke, Sharland, Lee, and Paterson, with the Master and coach, found it a very difficult matter to decide upon the first twenty-five who were to elect the captain for the season. The team's choice for the position of responsibility and honour fell upon L. Morton, with L. P. W. Brooke as vice-captain. These officers, with the committee, and the ever-patient coach, E. Rankin, have worked hard by precept and example to stimulate the team into the highest enthusiasm, and the general keenness and devotion to constant practice has been gratifying.

We are thankful that the team has been exceptionally free from epidemic or injury, in only two or three cases for the whole season have players been incapacitated. Nevertheless, twenty-six players have represented the College during the year, some of last season's regular players having to give place at times to newer and more energetic blood.

The following have played in all of the five Public School matches:— L. Morton, L. Brooke, F. Steele, F. M. Lee, J. K. Carmichael, J. Paterson, C. Bell, A. McDonald, J. V. Palmer, and D. M. Kennedy; while C. M. Paul, C. McArthur, R. McArthur, W. Sharland, P. Adzen, and J. R. Macmillan have played in four games, and A. J. Wilson and J. Henry in three.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MATCHES.

COLLEGE v. GEELONG GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

The opening game for the season was played this year against Geelong Grammar School, whom we have met for some years in the last match of the round. There was just a hope that our success of last year against our old rivals might be repeated; but although the influenza had considerably affected their team's practice, Grammar proved to be a strong side. The game was played on the Corio Oval on July 11th, and attracted the usual good attendance. The College team was as follows:— C. M. Paul, L. Brooke, J. R. Macmillan, C. McArthur, L. Morton, C. Bell, A. Wilson, F. M. Lee, J. K. Carmichael, D. Kennedy, J. Paterson, A. McDonald, J. V. Palmer, R. McArthur, A. R. Cousen, W. Sharland, P. Adzen, and F. Steele.

Having a slight advantage of the wind, the College opened fairly well, and scored the first point. Grammar soon replied with another; and goals from R. McArthur and Kennedy were promptly answered with an equal number against us. Brooke was called upon for solid defensive work in goal, and did all that was required of him. Morton was prominent several times, and Sharland brought off some fine marks.

Commencing the second quarter with three points in the lead, Grammar began a vigorous attack. Their big forwards soon began to be effective, and some clever goals resulted. Bell, on the half-back line, was coming through in fine style at times, and Paterson and Kennedy were putting up a good hard game. Sharland scored well in the second quarter, and Paterson in the third, but Grammar's weight and pace were beginning to tell. They repeatedly carried the ball through by sheer force, and often getting out of difficulties by effective handball, steadily increased their score. College worked the ball forward several times, and R. McArthur and Palmer made a good effort to score, but without success. The game was well fought out, the last quarter being very much stronger. The backs watched their men better, and used good judgment in meeting the ball, new boys like Macmillan and Paul doing very creditably. The general feeling was that the College had put up a good fight against a strong heavy side.

The scores were:—

1st. Quarter	Geelong Grammar	— 2 goals	5 behinds
	Geelong College	— 2 goals	2 behinds
2nd. Quarter	Grammar	— 7 goals	10 behinds
	College	— 3 goals	2 behinds
3rd. Quarter	Grammar	— 9 goals	14 behinds
	College	— 4 goals	3 behinds
Final	Grammar	— 10 goals	17 behinds (77 pts.)
	College	— 4 goals	3 behinds (27 pts.)

The players most prominent for the College were Morton, Bell, Brooke, Paterson, Sharland, Palmer, and Kennedy.

Goalkickers:—R. McArthur, Kennedy, Sharland, Paterson.

COLLEGE v. XAVIER COLLEGE.

This match was played on the M.C.C. Ground on July 17th in perfect weather. A splendid game resulted, the play being very even except for two dashes when Xavier scored heavily. The College team consisted of C. McArthur, L. Brooke, N. Box, N. K. Russell, L. Morton, P. Adzen, F. M. Lee, J. K. Carmichael, J. Henry, A. McDonald, J. Paterson, D. Kennedy, J. V. Palmer, R. McArthur, E. Greeves, W. Sharland, C. Bell, and F. Steele.

From the start the College lads showed keenness and dash, and had quite their share of the play, Xavier's more accurate kicking accounting for their lead of four points on the first quarter. Sharland's marking soon became a feature of the game, and did much to keep the play so favourable to his side throughout the day.

In the second quarter, the Xavier forwards repeatedly got away, and losing no chance to help one another, quickly put on five goals. Geelong rallied, however, and McArthur scored twice. On resuming after half-time, the College took up the attack, and seemed to have the best of the play. McArthur got two more goals, and was playing a very sound game. Bell was doing well with his characteristic dash, while Sharland was not to be denied in the air. The points added during the third quarter were Geelong 27, Xavier 16. In the last quarter, still another goal from McArthur left a shortage of only five points in the score. Xavier, however, again proved themselves a strongly finishing-side, and, by good dash and combined play, got through repeatedly. The College rallied again, Sharland getting his third goal, but it was too late to hope to wipe off the deficit, and the final bell found Xavier five goals in the lead at the close of a most enjoyable and well contested game.

The scores were:—

1st Quarter	Xavier College	3 goals	2 behinds
	Geelong College	2 goals	4 behinds
2nd Quarter	Xavier	8 goals	5 behinds
	Geelong	4 goals	7 behinds
3rd Quarter	Xavier	• 10 goals	9 behinds
	Geelong	- 8 goals	10 behinds
Final	Xavier	15 goals	14 behinds (104 pts.)
	Geelong	10 goals	10 behinds (70 pts.)

Our goal-kickers were—R. McArthur (5), Sharland (3), Paterson, and Bell.

Sharland was considered the best player on the ground, his marking all the game through being superb, while Bell, Paterson, Kennedy, R. McArthur, Brooke, McDonald, Morton, and Steele also did well.

COLLEGE v. SCOTCH COLLEGE.

Meeting Scotch this year on the Geelong Oval, on August 1st., we looked forward to a well-contested game, with just a hope of the score turning in our favour. The Melbourne team, however, proved to be much stronger than was anticipated, and carried off a substantial victory.

Our team consisted of C. M. Paul, L. Brooke, C. McArthur, P. Adzen, L. Morton, J. R. Macmillan, F. M. Lee, J. K. Carmichael, J. Henry, D. Kennedy, J. Paterson, J. Maddern, J. V. Palmer, R. McArthur, A. McDonald, W. Sharland, C. Bell, and F. Steele.

Scotch led off on the attack, and, surprising our team with their quickness and vigour, hammered at our defence the whole quarter. Morton and Macmillan were prominent in the resistance; but our opponents, with the wind somewhat in their favour, scored 31 points to nil in the first quarter. A rally in the second quarter gave us a good deal more of the play, but scoring was difficult, as the Scotch backs were strong. Palmer got a goal, but Scotch replied with two more, and at half-time the scores were—Scotch, 6 goals 8 behinds, Geelong 1 goal 3 behinds.

The third quarter was again our opponents'. Fortunately, their kicking, mostly from snapshots, was not accurate; still they added 2 goals 10 behinds, while we failed to increase our total. Morton's defensive work on the half-back line was particularly good, and both Paul and Macmillan gave him good support.

In the final quarter, our fellows pulled themselves together, and improved what had so far been a very disappointing game. Sharland recovered a suggestion of his form of the previous game, and secured three goals in addition to striking the post with a fourth attempt at an angle. Paterson, who had been playing consistently all day, also earned special notice; and the quickening of the whole team produced 20 points for the last quarter, as against Scotch's 12 points. The final result was—

Scotch — 9 goals 24 behinds (78 points)
 Geelong — 4 goals 5 behinds (29 points)

Sharland scored 3 goals and Palmer one; while the best players for the College were Morton, Paterson, Paul, Macmillan, and Palmer, whose roving was alert and plucky.

Almond, in the centre, played brilliantly for Scotch, and received excellent support from Melville, the Grounds brothers, Shanklin, Cock, and Trethowan.

COLLEGE v. MELBOURNE GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

This game was played on the Corio Oval on August 8th. Grammar was known to be a strong side, and they proved to be so in all aspects of the game. They were fast to the ball, which at times moved very rapidly; their high marking was brilliant all through the game; and they were clever, almost to excess, in the use of handball.

Our team for the day included C. M. Paul, L. Brooke, F. Giimore, J. R. Macmillan, L. Morton, R. Bell, F. M. Lee, J. K. Carmichael, A. Wilson, H. Hirst, J. Paterson, D. Kennedy, J. V. Palmer, R. McArthur, A. McDonald, W. Sharland, C. Bell, and F. Steele.

Grammar won the toss, and kicked with the wind; but it was gratifying to find our fellows determined from the start to prevent a big score. Steele did good work in checking their rover, Grammar's ruck proving too strong for ours. Bell and Paul were foremost in the defence, and the Melbourne champions only scored three goals for the quarter. However, they proved as strong against the wind as with it. Our forwards were all too light to make any impression on the formidable back lines of their opponents. Sharland marked well at times, and Morton was playing with sound judgment on the half-back line, but we failed to score.

In the third quarter the Melbourne team proved to be quite up to the highest estimate of them, and added 44 points for the quarter, while preventing us from adding anything.

The last quarter, however, satisfied the College supporters by the plucky way in which the soundly-beaten team fought out the final stage. Although Grammar could not be prevented from scoring, our fellows at last got through in a determined effort, and Carmichael and Steele each secured goals. These were in no small measure due to the fine way that Paterson repeatedly drove the ball up to the forward lines, The College team finished in really good heart, although the scores had been—

1st Quarter	Melb. Grammar	—	3 goals	7 behinds
	College	—		1 behind
2nd Quarter	Melb. Grammar	—	7 goals	12 behinds
	College	—		1 behind
3rd Quarter	Melb. Grammar	—	13 goals	20 behinds
	College	—		1 behind
Final	Melb. Grammar	—	18 goals	24 behinds
	College	—	2 goals	3 behinds

Goal-kickers :—Carmichael and Steele.

Best players:—Paterson, Morton, Bell, Steele, MacDonald, Wilson, and Sharland.

COLLEGE v. WESLEY.

The final game for the season was played on the M.C.C. Ground on August 28th. The perfect weather conditions favoured a fast, open game, and Wesley gave a good exhibition of combined play. A striking feature of their play was the use of the punt kick for short passes—quick, and almost invariably accurate. We missed very seriously the services of Sharland, for, getting a very fair amount of the play, the ball rarely got past the half-forwards, where a sure high mark would have made goals a practical certainty. The team that represented the College comprised—C. McArthur, L. Brooke, C. M. Paul, P. Adzen, L. Morton, J. R. Macmillan, J. Henry, J. K. Carmichael, A. Wilson, D. Kennedy, J. Paterson, F. M. Lee, J. V. Palmer, E. Greeves, A. McDonald, W. Sharland, C. Bell, and F. Steele.

Wesley took the ball from the bounce, and within thirty seconds had the two flags up. Quick and clean in all their play, their scoring-power was irresistible, the score at the first change being—Wesley 7 goals 6 behinds, Geelong nil; and at half-time, Wesley 14 goals 13 behinds, Geelong 1 goal, Paterson being the successful scorer for the College. By fine kicking in the third quarter Wesley added another 7 goals 3 behinds to their score, mostly due to Cook, whose marking and kicking were of the finest. The final result was:—

Wesley — 26 goals 22 behinds (178 points)
 Geelong — 1 goal 2 behinds (8 points)

Paterson, the only goal-kicker for the College, put up a very fine performance. His marking and ground play were brilliant, and despite a couple of nasty knocks during the play, he was indefatigable. Carmichael did well in the centre under the twofold disadvantage of playing a losing game, and having Tulloh for an opponent. Morton, Paul, Bell, and C. McArthur on the back lines, Wilson on the wing, and McDonald roving all acquitted themselves well. Greeves got few opportunities full forward, but did creditably.

A GREAT FOOTBALL TEAM.—

Dear Sir,

In your May issue appeared a model football team chosen by "College Barracker" from Old Collegians, going back to the time of the building of the Pavilion. I was much interested in the team chosen and as it was suggested that a second team could be picked possibly equal to the first, I have selected an eighteen which I think would be quite as good as the one mentioned. My team would be: Backs:—L. Richardson, C. Backwell (in goal), C. Carr; Half-backs:—T. Hawkes, A. McLennan, R. McPherson. Centre-line:—L. Reid, C. Betheras, V. Gross; Half-forward:—Eric Philip, E. McKay, E. Russell; Forwards:—J. Baker, F. Young, R,

Campbell; Followers:—A. H. Millar, T. Kerr (with L. Richardson and C. Carr as change rucks); Rover, S. A. McKenzie (with F. Young as change rover). For purposes of comparison I am giving the names of the team chosen in the last Pegasus. Backs:—Hugh Campbell, E. Webber, P. Pullar; Half-backs:—T. Dickson, W. Reid, W. Baud; Centre-line:—J. R. P. McKenzie, F. Crawford, R. Pillow; Half-forward:—J. Urbahns, P. Campbell, K. Doig; Forwards:—J. Birnic, A. Tait, T. Doughton; Followers:—G. McNeilage, W. McCulloch (with R. Pullar and E. Webber as change ruck); Rover—J. Hawkes (with P. Campbell as change rover).

Yours faithfully,

Dr. G. A. Birnie, M.C., has been appointed Superintendent of the Broadmeadows Influenza Hospital. Dr. Birnie served for three years with the R.A.M.C., and has recently returned to Melbourne. For the last twelve months he had been Superintendent of the Royal Chest Hospital, London.

Private J. D. Rogers, M.C. (late 6th Battalion, A.I.F.) and Corporal W. W. Leggatt, M.C. (late 59th Battalion, A.I.F.), who embarked as privates and received commissions on service, have been granted commissions in the Melbourne University Rifles.

tralia, the only Geelong representative was Basil Collins, and in the next match Bert Rankin was chosen to represent this State. The latter has been specially conspicuous all the season playing for Geelong in League matches.

Old Boys are arriving back from the war in good numbers now, and nearly all of them have rolled up to have a look at the old School. Of course the alterations and additions completed in 1917 are new to most of them, and when they are shown into the front hall, they seem quite at sea without the old passages, the old shower room, and other former landmarks.

Rowland Hope and Jim are back again, both looking very well. Rowland is in the wool business in Geelong and often comes up and watches the eighteen play football.

Peter and Reg. Campbell, too, are up at the School very often, and have been helping with the football practice.

Angus Urquhart, who is managing a farm of his own near Colac, Les Reid, and Eric Finch have recently returned from the front.

That the Old Boys have not forgotten the School after being away at the war has been shown by the keen interest taken in our two football matches on the Melbourne Cricket Ground. It was a great pleasure to the team, and gave them much encouragement, to see numbers turn up and support them with hearty barracking. At the last match, Major Lamble (who seemed to have forgotten no one), Alan Tait, George McNeilage, Eric Finch, W. Peacock, W. Macmillan, and others were present.

Gordon McArthur is taking a two-years' course of engineering, at Cambridge. He has now taken to cricket, and in a recent cricket match between the Jesus College eight and their 1st eleven, he made 24 runs, Chettie Manifold, of the Grammar School, running between the wickets for him.

A. F. McDonald gained second place in a swimming race in Battalion sports on the Somme, and won a medal. He received an appointment as clerk at Headquarters, London, and hopes to be back in Australia soon.

Gerald Douglas, after four months at Oxford received his commission as 2nd Lieutenant. He visited Brussels, Antwerp, Waterloo, and many other places of interest.

We heartily congratulate Major R. Birnie on being granted a Military Cross, and Flight-Lieut. Geoff. Walker, on gaining an A.F. Cross.

Old Collegians have been distinguishing themselves in pennant tennis matches. In A Grade, K. Keays, A. L. Baird, and J. B. Hawkes have been chiefly responsible for the high position attained by the Geelong Club. S. Roebuck, since his return from the war, has done good work in B Grade. Cyril Carr has been very successful too.

Alan Marshall, who is now on the staff of the North Shore Grammar School, Sydney, spent his last vacation in Geelong.

A cable has been received from Jack Robertson, M.C., to the effect that he has been given the opportunity to qualify for the Diploma of Forestry in the Edinburgh University, by March. We wish him luck.

Out of sixteen applicants, Dr. Ken. Purnell has been appointed House Surgeon at the Dewsbury Public Hospital, Yorkshire, for six months.

We have received an account of some exciting adventures experienced by an Old Collegian, H. S. Wood.

In 1914, he accepted an engagement with the Sociedad Explotadora de Tierra del Fuego at Punta Arenas, Chile, South America. This is a wealthy British Company, and controls enormous tracts of country, principally in Patagonia and Chile, where it runs huge flocks and herds. It also erected very large freezing works at Puerto Natales and Bories.

After a couple of years on various properties, Wood was transferred to the Freezing Works, where he attained to the position of second manager. On hearing of the deaths of his old School pals Jack Paul and Murray Storrer, he decided to go to the Front, and applied to be relieved of his engagement, but a Director went out and persuaded him that he was doing more for his country than if he was in the trenches, as the soldiers had to be fed, and large supplies of frozen meat were being constantly shipped from the Freezing Works to the order of the British Government. There was only a handful of Britishers to control over a thousand bloodthirsty savages, who were never without their gun and a murderous knife, and thought absolutely nothing of taking life.

Although the Chilian Government declared war on Germany, the officials were bribed with German money, and the position to-day is that the whole country is under German influence, and a Britisher is hated beyond description. Shortly after the Declaration of War, it became apparent to the Company that sinister influences were at work, and the lives of the few Britishers were more insecure than ever. The newspapers were under German influence, and strike followed strike with the regularity of clockwork, and owing to the lack of protection from the Authorities, the Company had no option but to "give in" to the numerous demands made upon them, in their endeavour to keep the supplies up. Murders frequently occurred, and various portions of the Company's properties were set on fire. Still the work was kept going somehow, until the final scene was enacted on the 23rd January, when Hell fairly broke loose, and Wood was shot over the heart by one of the leaders of the wild and howling savage mob who were well paid for their bloody work by Germany. A vivid account of this outrage appeared in the pages of a Buenos Aires newspaper. Unfortunately our space is too limited to print it in full.

We are pleased to state that in a letter since received from Mr. Wood he reports that he has almost recovered from his wound and is able to ride and shoot as well as ever. His present engagement will terminate in August 1920, when he purposes coming over to visit the land of his birth and get into touch with civilisation again after six years' absence.

Old Collegians' Re-union.

(From Geelong "Advertiser," July 26th.)

Geelong Collegians celebrated their annual re-union on Friday, July 25th. A football match, Past v. Present, resulted in a win for the latter by 7 goals 7 behinds (49 points) to 4 goals 5 behinds (29 points).

Afternoon tea was provided by the principal Mr. W. T. Price, after which the annual meeting was held, under the chairmanship of Mr. Robt.

C. Bell. The following are extracts from the annual report, which was adopted:—From our members, 512 enlisted; 82 gave their lives for the country, and the following distinctions were gained:—8 Distinguished Service Orders, 1 Bar to Military Cross, 27 Military Crosses, 1 Bar to Military Medal, 12 Military Medals, 5 Distinguished Conduct Medals, 3 Military Service Medals, 19 mentioned in despatches, 1 Mons Star, 1 Italian Order of St. Lazarus and St. Maurice-Cavalier, and 1 Belgian Croix de Guerre. To the War Memorial Endowment Fund about £2000 has been promised or donated.

Election of Officers resulted as follows:—President, Lieut.-Colonel F. C. Purnell; Vice-presidents, Major J. C. Kininmonth and Dr. C. E. Dennis; Committee, Messrs. A. L. Baird, J. I. Birnie, J. A. Cochrane, Andrew S. Cunningham, P. C. Dowling, James D'Helin, James Gatehouse, N. L. Hurst, E. T. Hearne, R. W. Hope, Tom Kerr, A. Longden, Campbell McArthur, W. H. Philip, W. M. Robertson, J. D. Rogers, J. F. S. Shannon, W. A. Waugh, Dr. R. R. Wettenhall, and R. J. Young, Principal of the College, ex-officio; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. A. W. Gray; Hon. Secretary, Mr. Stanley B. Calvert; Hon. Auditors, Messrs. T. G. Cole and John MacMullen.

Instructions were given to the incoming Committee to confer with the Principal regarding the proposed Bursaries and Scholarships. These will be given in the first place to the sons of Old Collegians who fell at the war; any surplus would be utilised for the sons of other Old Geelong Collegians. An active canvass is to be entered upon to raise the necessary funds for providing a worthy memorial.

Over 100 sat down to dinner at the Victoria Hotel in the evening. Lieut.-Colonel F. C. Purnell presided, and the attendance included a large number of returned men.

Mr. J. C. Bowden, one of the old brigade, proposed the toast, "Our Soldiers." He asked all present to stand in silence for a few seconds in memory of those who had fallen. His reference to the part taken by College boys in the Great War aroused enthusiasm.

Led by Mr. J. F. Guthrie, the audience rose and gave three hearty cheers for the 512 boys who had enlisted. He said the Public Schools and the Public School spirit were largely responsible for saving the Empire. Probably in proportion to its size, the Geelong College held the record for the world. Wesley sent more men to the Front proportionately than did the great Eton. The Geelong College—"a comparatively little school"—had done equally well. This was largely due to the lessons inculcated by their great founder—the late Dr. Morrison. Now we had to look to the Public Schools of Australia to mould public opinion in the right direction. It was a crime that any man who went away to fight should now be walking the streets looking for a job. He asked any employers who had carried out their promise to re-employ soldiers to stand. About half-a-dozen responded, after which the toast was musically honoured.

Brigadier-General R. Smith told a humorous school story. He said it referred to one of the biggest schools in the world—the "two-up school of the Australian Army." As a representative of the Melbourne Scotch College he was very pleased to be present.

In answer to repeated calls, Lieut.-Colonel Neil Freeman responded briefly. The war had been a wonderful experience, but he did not think any of the soldiers regretted going. One of the greatest pleasures he experienced when on active service was to meet Old Geelong Collegians. To a soldier a man who fell did not appear to be dead in the ordinary acceptance of that term. He had merely gone ahead. If soldiers allowed themselves to be led by foolish people it would be a bad thing for the country. He noticed that some of these leaders were officers—but he thought he was right in saying that very little was seen of some of these officers at the Front.

Dr. G. A. Birnie, in submitting "Kindred Associations," said whenever the Geelong College was mentioned in similar gatherings elsewhere, it had always aroused enthusiasm.

Mr. W. E. Sargood (Geelong Grammar School) said that during the past few years he had been brought into contact with the older schools of the Empire, and he thought the Australian schools were worthy to rank with them. He emphasised that efforts should be made to perpetuate the memory of those who had fallen.

Mr. Robt. Officer, junr., proposed "The Present Boys." He referred most appreciatively to the late Mr. Norman Morrison. The latter had not been able to put brains into all the boys, but in every case he had shown them "how to play the game,"

W. C. Peter (Head Prefect) acknowledged the toast. His speech was one of the best of the evening, and there was loud applause when Mr. Guthrie designated him "Senator Peter."

In proposing the toast of the Hon. Secretary, Mr. Robt. Bell spoke most eulogistically of the work of Mr. Stanley Calvert. That his remarks were endorsed was abundantly shown by the manner in which the toast was honoured, and also in the way in which Mr. Calvert was greeted when he rose to respond.

Mr. Guthrie announced that Mr. Robt. Bell would give £500 towards the War Memorial if a similar amount was subscribed in the room. This offer aroused much enthusiasm, and over £1100 was raised in a few minutes. The various donations were as follows :—R. C. Bell, £500; J. F. Guthrie, £100; C. Shannon, £100; E. K. Russell, £100; G. R. Hope, £50; Lieut.-Colonel Purnell and J. E. Philip, £25 each; J. C. Bowden, A. W. Dennis, and S. B. Calvert, £20 each; Peter Campbell, £30 for three years; A. Gunn and A. C. Kininmonth, £30 each; W. E. Sargood, E. T. Hearne, W. H. Philip, R. Officer, junr., £10/10/- each; H. Gregory, £10 for three years; Brigadier-General Smith and R. Campbell, £10 each; A. Owen, £5/5/- for three years; E. Greeves, £5/5/- for three years; H. T. Shaw and D. S. Naismith, £5 each for three years; C. J. Dennis, W. B. M'Culloch, R. W. Hope, J. D'Helin, and C. N. Brown, £5/5/- each; C. Cole, £5 for three years; T. Cole, £5; Lieut.-Colonel N. Freeman, A. Longden, W. Riggall, J. W. Dowling, R. H. Malcolm, C. Dowling, W. Stevens, Dr. Baird, £5 each; Dr. G. A. Birnie and E. O'Halloran, £2/2/- each; L. W. Nicholls, £2/10/-; J. D. Tassell, £2; K. Campbell, £1.

Mr. Bell made the offer because the money was to be put to a practical use, and not merely for ornamentation.

Those who took part in the football match were:—Old Boys:—C. Quick, J. A. C. Hunter, E. Greeves, G. C. Bell, J. R. Apted, L. Cruickshank, D. W. Paine, P. Campbell, R. W. Campbell, Wallace A. Cecil, Tom Kerr, John D'Helin, Cyril J. Dennis, D. H. Oliver, C. H. Calder, R. Milner, and R. Sutterby. Present Boys: J. R. Macmillan, N. Russell, F. Lee, D. Kennedy, J. Palmer, C. McArthur, L. Morton (capt), J. K. Carmichael, J. Paterson, R. McArthur, C. Paul, P. Adzen, C. Henry, A. McDonald, J. Maddern, W. Sharland, C. Bell, and F. Steele, Debating Society.

Good work has been done in the Debating Society during the term, although through the dislocation of the School terms owing to the influenza outbreak early in the year, the number of meetings has been curtailed.

A novel feature in the programme this year was a lecture on "Aviation," by a former member of the Society, Lieut. D. Ellis, who, during the war, acted as Flying Officer Observer in France. After giving some instructive technical details—such as the meaning of air speed, ground speed, air pressure, and suction, with explanations as to their bearing on the flight of the aeroplane—Mr. Ellis went on to speak of the work of the air squadron in France. Interesting information was given on such matters as reconnaissance, aerial photography, dropping of phosphorus bombs, contact patrol, dodging shells in mid-air and gun camouflage. The lecturer then related some personally vouched-for tales of heroism displayed by aviators, and concluded with a description of the build and chief parts of an aeroplane. There was a good attendance, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Ellis for his able lecture.

For our own meetings C. Peter was elected Premier, and J. Steele Leader of the Opposition. The first debate was on the subject, "That strikes are the best means of furthering the interests of the labour Party." This was evenly contested and resulted in a win for the negative side. The next important meeting was our debate with Yarra Street Men's Club. This was held in the Hall on August 9th, and attracted a large audience. It would probably have been larger still if the evening trams had been running. The subject discussed was "That the Government is making sufficient provision for the Returned Soldier." At the beginning, Mr. Price extended a cordial welcome to the visitors, whose team included Messrs. Gill, Kroger and Dudgeon. The College team consisted of C. Peter, J. Steele, and A. Burnet.

Mr. Gill, in an able speech, opened the debate for the affirmative, and C. Peter responded for the negative. Other speakers then spoke alternately, after which the leaders summed up for their respective sides, Mr, Firth, who very kindly consented to act as arbiter, then delivered his judgment on the debate, awarding the victory to the College team.

On August 22nd, the same team journeyed to Melbourne to meet Wesley College in their own hall. The subject this time was, "That compulsory military training should be abolished," and we took the affirmative.

The debate was very even and was finally won by Wesley by 222 points to 215 points. Our best thanks are due to the Wesley Headmaster and team for their hospitality.

The meetings for next term are Impromptu Debates and the annual banquet.

Cadet Notes.

When the new military year commenced, a reorganisation of the companies in the Area took place and the College became, once more, the headquarters of a company. This change necessitated the appointment of two subalterns, to act as Platoon Commanders, and several Non-commissioned Officers for various posts. On August 5th an examination was held, the President of the Board of Examiners being our Area Officer, Major Trickey. The results of the examination may be gathered from the page of "School Officers." All those who qualified for promotion are to be congratulated upon their success.

The division of our strength into two platoons, each with its commander and sergeants, has resulted in increased efficiency.

On July 19th we took part in the Peace procession. The bearing and discipline of those who marched left little to be desired.

The 1905 Quota who joined us in July have spent most of their time this quarter in mastering rifle exercises and platoon drill, and are progressing favorably.

Geelong College Entertainment.

(Geelong "Advertiser," August 30th.)

Speaking at the opening of an entertainment at the Geelong College last evening, the Principal, Mr. W. T. Price, explained that the proceeds were in aid of the clock fund. This was started during the Headmastership of Mr. Bayly, but during the war period was allowed to remain in abeyance. As every seat in the Norman Morrison Hall last evening was filled, there should be a substantial addition to the fund. Under the conductorship of Mr. Frank Shrimpton, the boys gave three songs—"Australia," "The Veteran's Song," and "Home, Boys, Home"—in a manner that elicited prolonged applause. The only other vocal number was supplied by Mr. Shrimpton, who sang "The Deathless Army." The balance of the programme consisted of physical drill and physical culture to music; boxing exhibitions (including a very humorous item in which the costume of one of the participants became disarranged); parallel bars by seniors and juniors, fancy exercises and pyramids. In every case the work was smartly done, and clearly evidenced the thorough manner in which the young gymnasts had been taught. Exceptionally clever work on the bars was shown by the instructor, Mr. Stanley, who also executed some sword exercises to music, and, in company with L. Morton, gave a most interesting exhibition of jiu-jitsu. The singing of the National Anthem brought to a close one of the most successful end-of-the-term entertainments ever held at the College.

Lecture on "Poison Gases."

On Saturday evening, August 23rd, at the invitation of the Field Naturalists' Society, several of us went to the Gordon College to hear a lecture on "Poison Gases" by Major Wilson, O.B.E., M.C. Major Wilson was connected with the gas warfare from early in 1915 till the end of the war, so he was thoroughly well acquainted with the subject.

The lecturer began with some historical facts connected with the use of gas, the first attack being made by the Germans, in April, 1915. He then gave some particulars about the characteristics and effects of the various gases used by the enemy. Chlorine was the first gas to appear, and later phosgene. The efficiency of the mask, however, made the cloud attacks valueless, so the gas shell then appeared. The gas in these shells was identified by small coloured crosses on the outside of the shells. Thus we get "Yellow Cross, Green Cross, etc." Incidentally Major Wilson remarked that if one was not careful the results of these crosses was a "Wooden Cross." He then showed us a fine collection of masks used by the Allies and Germany, pointing out their methods of use and their defects. The lecturer's grotesque appearance with the masks in position evoked much laughter from the audience, but he said that one soon got used to the appearance at the Front, for everyone within three miles of the front lines was obliged to wear a mask, if there were any traces of gas in the air. The efficiency of the latest British masks may be gauged from the fact that the casualties during a gas attack fell from over 2000 in 1915 to less than 20 in 1918, and these few were due solely to the carelessness of the wearers.

At the end of the lecture a fine series of lantern slides were shown, thus bringing a thoroughly enjoyable evening to a close. In answer to a question, Major Wilson stated that the results obtained by the use of gas did not justify its use.

We are very grateful to the Field Naturalists' Society for the opportunity of hearing so interesting a lecture.

Saluting the Flag at Campbell College.

On Saturday, May 24th, Campbell College, Belfast, Ireland, for the eleventh time performed the ceremony of saluting the flag on Empire Day.

The Campbell College Contingent of the Officers' Training Corps was formed in 1900, and in that and every subsequent year the school has assembled in the front quadrangle, the head prefect has hoisted the Union Jack, and the sacred emblem has been solemnly saluted. Some months before the great war began Campbell College exchanged Union Jacks with Geelong College in Australia, so that this is the sixth occasion upon which the school has saluted a flag which came from the other side of the Empire.

Before the ceremony a short address was given by the Head Master in the Central Hall, and the school was then dismissed. The Officers' Training Corps formed up on the drill court and marched round to the front quadrangle. The Head Master read prayers specially suited for the occasion, in which thanks were returned to Almighty God for our deliverance from the danger which threatened us. The head prefect (R. A. J. Somers) then hoisted the Union Jack, which was duly saluted.

Dr. J. H. MacFarland (chancellor of the University of Melbourne), addressing the boys, said he thanked them for the opportunity of joining in their Empire Day celebrations and the saluting of the Union Jack presented to them by Geelong College in Australia in exchange for one from Campbell College. As a member of the Council of Geelong College he conveyed to them their fraternal greetings, and it would give him much pleasure when he returned to Australia to convey to the boys of Geelong College their good wishes, and to tell them of the excellence of their drill and of the admirable way in which they had carried through those proceedings that day. Were they in Australia that day they would see every State School throughout the Commonwealth decked with flags and the Union Jack duly saluted, with three cheers for our King. This not merely in the large centres of population but also in the small bush schools throughout what they called the back blocks—not, perhaps, with the same finish as they had carried through the proceedings there, but with an undressed gum sapling as flagstaff and without any band. The spirit, however, would be the same, and the cheers, if not so loud, would be just as hearty. The Empire owed a debt of gratitude to the Earl of Meath, who inaugurated Empire Day and fixed it on the birthday of the good Queen Victoria. The peoples of the world were ruled far more by sentiment than some folks who called themselves hard-headed would try to make them believe, and the ideals of liberty and straight dealing for which our Empire stood appealed with a warmth to the hearts of those far away from the centre in a way which they could hardly appreciate to the full. There was one feature about Campbell College and about their celebrations which appealed strongly to him, and that was that behind all their activities in the College they placed a religious sanction. It was only one step up from loyalty to our King and country to loyalty to the King of Kings, the practical outcome of which was a love of truth and a scrupulous regard for the rules of honour leading on to a pure life and unsullied lips—the highest mark of schoolboy or man. They were no doubt proud—and justly proud—of what Campbell College had done in connection with the Officers' Training Corps and of the great sacrifice of such a large number of old Campbellians in the late dark days through which they had triumphantly passed. They were proud of its tone and the discipline of their school, and he asked them to join with him in three hearty cheers for Campbell College. The cheers were heartily given.

The school, with the corps at their head, then proceeded to a point in the grounds where a tree was planted by the head prefect in memory of the occasion. This was declared well and truly planted by Sir Robert J. Kennedy, K.C.M.G., D.L. (chairman of the Board of Governors), after which the school was dismissed to enjoy an Empire Day holiday.

The Wool Industry and Wool-Classing.

The "Romance of the Wool Trade" in Australia has often been told, and requires little recapitulation here. It is enough to say that the pre-eminent position at the present time of the Australian merino is due to the care and skill exercised by the early settlers in their selection of flocks. There is a great difference between the merino of to-day and the animal which landed here in 1797. At Camden Park, in New South Wales, the descendants of the original flock have been kept pure and free from admixture, but they are in every way inferior to the best modern flocks. In breeding merinos up to their present state of excellence, a skill and science have been shown which are unrivalled in the history of stock-breeding. The expert classer is a scientist to whom the theory of Mendel is as familiar as the drafting yard where his skill is displayed. To see him at work, selecting the sire to build up or maintain the qualities of the flock, whether in constitution or in wool, is a revelation, not only in sound judgment, but in quick decision. The wool sales, too, have undergone a considerable change of venue of late years. Formerly all our clips were sold in London, and the prices realised were quoted in the "Australasian." To-day, buyers from England, France, Germany, United States, and in fact all manufacturing countries, attend the sales in Sydney, Melbourne and Geelong, and bid against one another for the choicest clips, whose brands they know as well as do the station-owners. The unsatisfactory methods and the discomforts of the old London sales have disappeared. Now, in well lighted rooms, hundreds of buyers for firms of world-wide fame compete by fractional bids for the wool in thousands of bales, samples of which have been opened previously and subjected to minute inspection.

During the last year or two the value of wool has been rising steadily, especially in England, where the average price at present prevailing is over three times as high as before the war. It has not indeed in Australia risen to such an extent, the price here being less than half that in England. Nevertheless, when trade and shipping facilities become normal, the price of wool the world over" will be quoted at something like the same rate per lb. This change is sure to bring with it an increase in the production of wool, which in its turn will mean more wool transactions, more wool stores, and a greater number of persons dependent on the wool business for their livelihood. Again the rise of wages in England, Germany, and other European countries will better enable Australian woollen manufacturers to compete in the world's market. All this will open up to young men interested in the great wool industry very promising positions in the near future. The manufacture of woollen stuffs and clothes is bound soon to start in Australia, and with it will come situations requiring men well-skilled in the wool trade. For this purpose many of the schools are providing a course of wool-classing, and the College is not behind in the matter. Every Saturday morning in the second term several boys assemble at the Gordon Technical College's wool-room, and for three hours we obtain expert instruction from a returned soldier.

Our class is a separate one, and we are doing a special course. We learn not merely the principles of the actual classing of wool, such as would be required by a classer in a shearing shed, but also the "tricks of the trade" in the wool business, and the method in which it is carried on. Those of us who are going on the land are instructed as to the breeding of sheep, the choice of ram and ewe, the quality of wool at which to aim, and how best to keep it at this uniform quality. We are shown how to tell a "good-looking" sheep, and to enumerate the principal parts of its fleece. Practice is given us in classing: a bundle of wool of mixed qualities is put in front of us, which we must sort out into merino, comeback, three-quarter bred, etc. A good supply of wool is kept in the room at the Technical College, and we procure samples of the various qualities and breeds of wool to place in our "Wool Exercise Book." Now and again we have talks with our instructor on any subjects of interest to the wool and pastoral industries, as for example, methods of scouring and dyeing wool, or perhaps the respective merits of shearing by machine or by hand. The instructor's thorough acquaintance with the Australian pastoral industry, and his wide experience, enable him to illustrate his talks by description of what he has actually seen.

Now that our ten lessons are over we all feel that, if we have not gained an exhaustive knowledge of the wool and pastoral industries, we have at least "pricked in some flowers" to start us well on the way to success should we decide to follow one of these pursuits.

Australian Slang.

Lady Helen Munro Ferguson, in addressing a girl's school in Sydney recently urged the girls to avoid using slang as far as possible. This is excellent advice, and no self-respecting schoolgirl will fail to follow it. But what about us boys? Does it hold for us as well? One would believe so, to hear the scathing remarks passed by the person in authority whenever the slightest trace of slang appears in our essays or elsewhere. Personally, I find it very hard to avoid it. In describing the famous court-scene in Scott's Kenilworth I have an almost irrepressible desire to put it in some such way as this:—"Leicester was narked because the old bird Sussex was let in before him. Another thing that got his goat was that his cobber Varney was not allowed in, though Sussex's cobber, Raleigh, was. So he told Bowyer, the doorkeeper, to turn it up and that if he didn't look out he would give him one to go on with. As Bowyer was only doing what he was told he considered this stiffness, and grouched about it to the Queen. She told Leicester not to kid himself and dressed him down a treat. Leicester saw that it was best to crack humble, and then the Queen roused on to Sussex. After this she asked Varney some questions about Amy Robsart, a boshter tart of Tressilian's, who was really Leicester's fair dinkum wife, and my word he had to keep his eyes skinned so as not to put the show away. Varney was a cute sort of bloke, and after a good deal of leg-pulling he managed to save Leicester for the time." Now this seems to me to be perfectly clear and simple, and perhaps when I have passed my exam I may put in some time at simplifying the rest of Kenilworth in the same way.

Nature and Art.

Two boys took a holiday ramble over the same ground on a holiday afternoon. To one the walk seemed dreary and void of interest; but the other returned home laden with treasures—curious things he had picked up here and there. His eyes had been open to the beauties and wonders of Nature. His ears caught her voice; he rejoiced in the sunshine and in the gay flowers of the meadow. The rippling water, the murmur of bees and the songs of birds made music for him.

Can we, too, find "tongues in trees, books in the running brooks, sermons in stones, and good in everything?" Emerson wrote, "He who knows what sweets and virtues are in the ground, the waters, the plants, the heavens, and how to come at these enchantments is the rich and royal man . . . It is the magical lights of the horizon and the blue sky for the background, which save all our works of art. In every landscape, the point of astonishment is the meeting of the sky and the earth. What splendid distance, what recesses of ineffable pomp and loveliness in the sunset! But who can go where they are or lay his hand or plant his foot thereon?"

The gentle voice of Nature is most distinct when we lose ourselves

"And mingle with the Universe and feel
 What we can ne'er express, yet cannot all conceal."

The power to perceive and enjoy natural beauty is far from universal. It is possessed in very varying degrees; but to those who have it and cultivate it, what a priceless gift, what an unfailling source of joy and comfort it proves to be! Lovely Nature continually reveals fresh features. Her treasures seem inexhaustible. Every advance in our acuteness of perception reveals new beauty, deeper harmony, more vivid contrast.

Perfect taste is the faculty of receiving the greatest possible pleasure from material sources attractive to our moral nature in its purity; but why we receive delight from certain forms and colours and not from others is no more to be asked or answered than why we like lollies and dislike bitter medicine.

What is Art? It has always been closely connected with Religion, and has been defined as "Man's expression of delight in God's work." It is shown in sculpture, in painting, in music. It renders the senses more delicate, the perceptions more accurate. It helps us to love quiet tones instead of gaudy colours, graceful instead of coarse form, and by long acquaintance with the best interpretations of Nature to quickly discern what is fine from what is common. The true artist seizes upon and reveals to the average observer the special features of a figure or of a scene which are most worthy of notice and of memory.

The Aftermath.

Almost a year has passed since last we heard
 The tumult of the clash of arms. Then, all
 Was strife and bloodshed fearful to recall,
 And many read their news with vision blurred.
 But now a glorious change to peace has stirred
 The hearts of all mankind to thankful praise
 To those brave lads who gave their best to raise
 The Flag of England 'gainst the German herd.
 And now these men are coming home once more,
 To what? Are we to show them that our thanks
 Are only words—to give for their great deeds
 At best a meagre sum? We should abhor
 The very thought. We must reward all ranks
 With loving sympathy for all their needs.

Appeal to Pegasus.

Famed Pegasus; whose hefty hoof
 Kicked moisture from the mountain,
 And sent it touring round the earth
 A verse-inspiring fountain:
 Invert o'er us, revered Peg.,
 A billycan of wavelets
 To keep our muses' fires secure
 From ignominious gravelets.

AUGUST, 1919.

39

Thou knowest we're young Pegasites
 Scarce qualified for pinions,
 Who fain would tread the dizziest heights
 Yet scaled in Sport's dominions.
 Bestow then on thy suppliant brood
 Thy legs, and wind, and bellows,
 That, emulating thy great deeds,
 We whop the other fellows.

We wot not how you shaped at Trig,
 And things not found in fiction;
 But this we know, you were a don
 At pure poetic diction.
 And doubtless you could lend a hand
 At any kind of knowledge;
 And, aiding, win the homage of
 The boys of Geelong College.

BANJO II.

The Barrackers' Song.

Our men are young, and small, and light, and we ourselves are few,
 But every single one of us does all that he can do;
 And our men battle valiantly, not one but does his best,
 And though he's tired, weak, and sore, can still a point contest.

Now, when they take the field, let "Come on, College!" be our cry,
 Let "Well done, College" be our praise of each heroic try,
 And let the score-board frown on us, and smile the other way,
 Our men have still their spirit, though they've lost the football day.

They'll try again and we'll support them with our heartiest cheers,
 And ever we'll support them until victory appears;
 And when it does, ah! shan't we cheer, and each man carry high?
 Our shouts will rise into the skies, and never, never die.

The bounce, to rover, then half-forward; forward—"Have your shot!"
 If you've good luck we'll cheer you, and we'll cheer you if you've not;
 And when it goes against us see our brave defending men—
 "Well held! He's off! He's kicked it! Well done, College!"—saved again.

Then "Come on, College!" cry, and "Well done, College!" shout, once more;
 Our lads, our school, will try again till football days are o'er.
 We are not beaten, nor will be, but hold out to the last;
 Our hopes are for the days to come, we think not on the past.

Perhaps in time their fame will pass, and doubtless ours will, too,
 But all have left the school they worked for to tradition true—
 One link in Honour's chain, but, wanting that one, what would be
 The thoughts of us in minds of those that distant days will see.

B. R. KEITH.

Random Notes.

The Upper Fifth Scripture Class was electrified when one of its popular members, in reading Isaiah xi., 8, asserted that "the weaned child shall place his hand on the cockatoo's den."

At the Kindergarten football match one little boy was asked whether he played in the ruck. "No," he said, "I play in the back yard/" Another one remarked that Mr. Price was very kind to lend them his square oval.

It is fairly safe to say that the boy who gave the following answer in History does not think coherently: "Llewelyn came ofer from france to mary the King of England and she had the wright to be queen of Scotland, so he thought he would be king of both country but she died on the way across from france."

In reply to the question of the Honours English candidate as to whether Chaucer's "Parliament of Foules" should be called the "Parliament of Fools" or the "Parliament of Foals," we can only say that we have never heard of such a thing as the latter.

An Old Boy was recalling, on Old Boys' Day, how he was chaffed by "the skipper" when, in reply to the question, "What is the infinitive of 'confiteor'?" he answered "confetti," And he is not married yet !

The two parts of a sonnet are the concave and the cestette.
